Exhibition from the 13th of January to the 31st of March 2018

Opening of the first individual exhibition on the island of the Majorcan artist, Laura Ramis, of the work carried out during her stay as a resident artist at Addaya Centre d'art contemporani.

I work with plastic objects recovered or bought in bazaars and grocery stores. I started to compile this type of material for a fixation and love for plastic and pop culture. In recent years I have focused my attention on colour and consumerism, approaching this conjunction through installation or sculptural work. My pieces are composed of a large number of items that I formally organize. I can build objects or invade the space with colour, play on visual similarities, relationships and accumulations to talk about the multiplicity of consumer goods that characterizes today's society. This is my way of responding to contemporary culture, to what could be considered the ecological tragedy of plastic; collect, order, and make sense of a world where production becomes massive.

Laura Ramis studied Fine Arts in Salamanca. She currently lives and works in Madrid. She has exhibited individually in Espacio Experimental (University of Salamanca, 2012); DA2 Art Center of Salamanca (2012); Arte Santander (2013); ArtMadrid (2014); Estampa (2016); Rafael Pérez Hernando Gallery (2014 and 2017).

She has participated in calls as Obra Abierta (Caja de Extremadura); mulier, mulieris or Jóvenes Pintores (Fundación La Gaceta) and collective exhibitions in Madrid, Castilla y León and Mallorca. She has recently participated in the Artissima fair along with Rafael Pérez Hernando, a gallery with which she collaborates on a regular basis.
